ENLARGEMENT OF CHILDREN'S HOME PLANNED

County Faces Problem as Enrollment Figures Increase

NOW UP TO CAPACITY

Construction of Cottages Seen as Possible Method of Relief

Rapid increase in the number of boys and girls at the Marion County Children's Home will force officials of the home and the county to take steps in the near future to relieve the over-crowded conditions. This was the opinion expressed today by members of the board of county commissioners.

Already a plan is in the process of formation to provide room and facilities for caring for the increasing enrollment. The plan, however, has not yet taken definite form and probably will not for several months, county commissioners stated today.

At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the home, a resolution was passed, requesting the commissioners to work out some method of financing a building program. It was stated today that it would be impossible for the county to begin a building program this year.

Plans Uncertain

Just what means will be adopted to relieve conditions at the home have not been determined. Trustees, however, have on numerous occasions informally discussed the erection of a number of cottages. By some, this is considered a better plan than the erection of one large building.

Plans for financing the program are also in the state of formation. If the program calls for the expenditure of more than $10,000 a bond issue must be approved by the voters of the county. Under this amount the funds can be raised by a tax levy included in the annual appropriation of the commissioners.

Home Has Funds

It is also possible that much of the financial burden of the building program may be borne by the board of trustees. The trustees are in possession of a considerable sum left to the home in gifts and bequests. Unless the donors specify that only the interest from their gifts can be spent the trustees will be able to apply this money toward the erection of new buildings, it is said.

Completion of a building program is expected to close the breech between home officials and the state department of welfare. Home and state officials have been at odds for several months over the refusal of the board of trustees to employ a trained state worker to act as assisting agent for locating orphan children in private homes.

The county home is now operating under a temporary license which was granted when arrangements were made for Mrs. W. T. Niles, matron, to spend part time in this work. Although the temporary license will expire next June, it is probable that it will be extended.

Population of the home is about 75 at present. According to the superintendent, W. T. Niles, this is the capacity of the institution.

CHARGES GOVERNOR GIVEN PRIVATE CAR

Detroit Commissioner Requests Investigation of Reports

LANSING, Mich., April 11 — Charging that Gov. Fred W. Green travels around the state in a private car furnished by the Michigan Central railroad, and is accompanied by the head of the same railroad, Commissioner Sidney E. Doyle of Detroit today demanded the legislative committee investigating the public utilities commission call the governor for examination.

Doyle, in demanding the right to examine Governor Green, declared to the investigating committee:

"How can you gentlemen expect the public utilities commission to function in the public interest when the governor of the state will travel around the country in a private car with a paid lobbyist of one of the railroads we are supposed to regulate?"

Texas Less Cordial As She Resumes Testimony

NEW YORK, April 11—Texas Guinan, the girl who makes more money handshaking than a president, played the federal court room again today.

The former cowgirl, charged with maintaining a nuisance in connection with the sale of liquor in the Salon Royale, mounted the witness stand again today. She turned the chair toward the jury box as she crossed her silken-clad ankles and clasped her hands on her knees.

The nightclub hostess was a study in black and diamonds today. She was dressed in a chiffon black dress underneath her velvet coat, black as midnight, and wore a skull-fitting jet-spangled turban.

Texas came straight to court from the trenches. She said she had been working all night at her new Club Intime.

"I had to work to pay my lawyers," Tex said, in a mock poverty-stricken tone.

She didn't have any sleep and she rather looked it. There were circles as large as her diamond rings under her eyes.

Texas appeared less cordial than yesterday toward Assistant U. S. Attorney Norman Morrison, sent down from Washington to

DEFENSE PLAN TO FIX COURSE IN MURDER CASE

Sanity Inquest for Mrs. Johnson Seen as Possible Development

AWAIT GRAND JURY ACTION

Past Life of Husband Slayer Expected To Figure in Trial

Whether a sanity inquest is to be a development in the case of Mrs. Stella Mae Johnson, charged with the murder of her husband, Hal R. Johnson, will not be known until after the grand jury takes action at its session on May 6, Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Doulthen said today.

Should the grand jury fail to indict, the case will come to a close and in the event an indictment is returned, the possibility of a sanity inquest will rest entirely upon the methods pursued by Mrs. Johnson's counsel, the prosecutor said. There will be no inquiry into her mental condition unless the insanity plea is advanced as a defense, the state's attorney indicated.

Mrs. Johnson is back in the county jail today after she entered a plea of not guilty and waived examination in arraignment before Municipal Judge Martin, yesterday afternoon.

Will Select Attorney

Plans were under way today for a conference between City Solicitor George T. Gerig and Mrs. Johnson for the purpose of selecting her defense attorney. Gerig, an acquaintance of both Mrs. Johnson and her late husband, volunteered to act as advisor for her at the arraignment yesterday but was unwilling to serve as her attorney because of his official duties as city solicitor.

Incidents in former court proceedings involving Mrs. Johnson, as well as a general resume of her life, are expected to be brought to light in her trial should she be indicted.

Inquiry and court records in Morrow county show that Mrs. Johnson was the principal witness for the state in the trial of John Morrow, who was sentenced to the penitentiary from the Morrow county court about 16 years ago in connection with the death of Estella Marion Platt, infant child of Mrs. Johnson by a former marriage.

According to information assembled by newspaper representatives, Mrs. Johnson made her first appearance in central Ohio some time in 1908 or 1909 when she came to Delaware with a carnival company, which was stranded there and disbanded. After

DON'T WORRY, SAYS LINDY, OFF AGAIN

Hops Off from Brownsville and Becomes "Lost" Once More

BULLETIN

MERIDAN, Miss., April 11—Keeping his movements as secret as possible, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bonita field here this morning, took on a supply of gasoline and then took off for an unannounced destination.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 11—Airport officials scanned the skies here today in the belief that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would make this city a "port of call" on his mysterious flight eastward from Mexico City.

Lindy promptly "lost" himself again yesterday when he hopped off from Brownsville, Texas, where he revealed himself to an anxious world after being many hours overdue.

Where he had spent his first night out of Mexico City, he said, was "a matter that concerns myself alone." He expressed regret, however, that army fliers had been put to the trouble of starting a search for him.

The Lone Eagle arrived at Brownsville with camping equipment which showed evidence of recent use. Refusing to reveal his destination and telling his friends not to worry if he was missing for two or three days, he hopped off again and "disappeared" in the eastern horizon.

HOBBY COSTS LIFE

Woman Killed When Plane Falls Only 50 Feet at Airport

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 11—Aviation, the hobby of Clyde McWhinney, wealthy Long Beach lawyer, and his wife, today cost Mrs. Jessie McWhinney her life when one of the two planes which the couple owned, crashed at the municipal airport.

Mrs. McWhinney was killed when the plane, a JND-4, piloted by her husband, fell only 50 feet and crashed into a fence at one side of the field. McWhinney suffered only minor injuries, but suffered such a severe shock from the accident and the death of his wife that he was removed to a hospital.

BURNED TO DEATH

One Man Dead, Six Hurt as Flames Sweep Liner at Pier

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 11—One man was burned to death and six others were injured when fire swept the boiler room of the liner President Roosevelt, of the United States Lines, as it was docked at Pier 4, here today.

The dead man was Robert Portland, boilermaker's helper, of Jersey City, N. J.

Edward Burke, fireman, was taken to St. Mary's hospital in a serious condition after being dragged from the flaming engine room by Motorcycle Patrolman Walter Finkeldei. Burke had made three attempts to rescue Portland when he collapsed and was himself rescued.

As a result of this blood transfusion, Prof. William E. Meyer, an instructor in the pharmacy college, was reported today as being somewhat improved although his condition still remained serious. He is suffering in University hospital here from intestinal hemorrhages.

LEVIATHAN OFF WATER WAGON; WILL OPEN BAR

Wet Policy for American Ship Announced by New Owners

TO MEET COMPETITION

Drinks To Be Sold When Ship Passes 12-Mile Limit

NEW YORK, April 11—The Leviathan, the world's largest ship, American-owned, has fallen off the water wagon.

Today it is a "wet" ship as it plies its way from the shores of the U. S. A. for Cherbourg and Southampton. And, in the near future, some 10 other big American liners, which took the pledge back in 1920, are also going to serve highballs and cocktails when they get beyond the 12-mile limit.

"Forced by competition," is the explanation for the new policy.

The Leviathan steamed out of New York port yesterday on her first voyage under private ownership under orders which provided for the opening of her medical liquor supplies—estimated to comprise about 700 quarts—for sale to passengers outside the 12-mile limit.

Expected to Increase Business

James E. Sheedy gave the order. He is the operating head of the United States Lines, Inc., new owners of the American Merchant Marine fleet. The new policy, however, has yet to be officially confirmed by the board of directors. P. W. Chapman, head of the company that bought the Leviathan and 10 other liners from the government, is known to be personally opposed to the sale of liquor, but the new policy is expected to increase business greatly.

In fact, it was estimated in ship-

HORST BOY'S "BODY" PROVES TO BE DOLL

Mussel-Shell Hunters Grow Excited When They Make Discovery

COLUMBUS, April 11—"Believe Horst Boy Found Dead" was the eight-column streamer on the extra edition of a Columbus newspaper which appeared on the streets shortly before noon today.

At that time, Wayne county officials were rushing from Wooster to New Philadelphia, near which city it had been reported that the headless body of a 4-year-old boy had been found in the Tuscarawas river.

They believed they were about to finally solve the mysterious disappearance of 4-year-old Melvin Horst, who was last seen near his home in Orrville on the evening of Dec. 27. For no youngster had been reported missing in the section of the state in which the supposed body of a boy had been found, and it appeared to the officials they were on the right track at last. Raymond Horst, father of Melvin, accompanied the Wayne county authorities on their dash to New Philadelphia.

But before they arrived, an undertaker who went to the place on the Tuscarawas river where the body had been reported found, made a real discovery.

The "body" was that of a headless doll, fully dressed. Two mussel-shell hunters were so excited when they discovered the doll this morning, they thought it was the corpse of a boy and immediately notified officials. They were perhaps justified in their supposition, for the doll was unusually large and was completely dressed. The head was missing.

EXTORTION CHARGED

Prohibition "Informer" To Be Arraigned Before U. S. Commissioner

CINCINNATI, April 11—Charged with extorting $300 from an alleged bootlegger on the promise that he would destroy "evidence" held by federal officers against the man, Charles Marsee, 27, "informer" for the federal prohibition department in the district of northern Kentucky, is to be arraigned before United States Commissioner Harry Neal Smith late today.

W. E. Barcus, "raiding ace" of the federal enforcement squad, made the arrest. He declared that Marsee obtained $300 from John Bauer on the promise that he (Marsee) would destroy two bottles of liquor that federal agents held as "evidence" against Bauer.

Marsee resides at Ludlow, Ky.

KILLED AS HE STEPS IN FRONT OF INTERURBAN

DAYTON, April 11—Catapulted for a distance of 40 feet when he stepped in front of a traction car last night, Walter Carpenter, 36, is dead here today. Carpenter and his son, Theodore, had left Mrs. Carpenter waiting in their automobile while they went to a farmhouse where they intended to purchase eggs.

The woman was unaware of the tragedy until Theodore returned to the machine and breathlessly exclaimed, "Daddy has been killed."

May Queen At College

Miss Opal Rupert, Polk, Wins Highest Honor Given Co-Eds at Ashland; Will Reign Over Pageant Conducted by Alumni, Students

MISS OPAL RUPERT

ASHLAND, April 11— The winsome smile of Miss Opal Rupert of Polk, Ohio, blonde Ashland college junior, added to her popularity on the campus has won for her the coveted honor of May Queen for 1929. Miss Rupert was elected by the student body from among 12 candidates.

The newly elected queen will reign over the annual May day festivities at the college when alumni and students will celebrate with a pageant upon the college campus. Mrs. Catherine Coit Silcox, head of the college dramatic department, will direct the pageant and other May day activities.

The honor, which goes to a junior girl each spring, is the highest that a co-ed can win at the college.

DENIES CHARGES

Columbus Probate Judge Says Funds Do Not Defray His Expenses

COLUMBUS, April 11 — Denying charges that funds received through the sale of engraved marriage certificates, together with marriage licenses, are used to defray campaign expenses, Probate Judge Homer Z. Bostwick had today answered a resolution by the Columbus presbytery, in which it condemned the charging of "excessive" prices for marriage licenses.

The engraved certificates, which sell in Franklin county for $1.50 are unnecessary, the judge explained. Applicants need only the license.

Judge Bostwick denied charges that persons seeking marriage licenses are led to believe the engraved certificates must accompany the licenses.

BATON ROUGE, La., April 11—Authorities today began an investigation of a small fire which occurred last night in the basement of the Louisiana capitol, where the impeachment proceedings against Gov. Huey P. Long are under way.

The fire was extinguished before much damage was done. Officials of the fire department said they were at a loss to understand how the blaze originated. It started in a pile of refuse.

The men were Earl W. Foubt, 27, Carl O. Graver, 21, and C. J. Nolston, 25.

"HOPE" DESIGNATED AS NEED OF INDIA

Native Y. M. C. A. Leader Gives Talk to Local Luncheon Clubs

Appadurai Aaron, of India, told Kiwanians and Meridians in a joint luncheon of the two clubs today noon that "hope" is the greatest need in his native country. Hope in a love in the Christian religion, with a few young men, Americans and natives, to set the example, will be more to aid India than any other thing, the speaker said, in his talk given at the Marion club.

Aaron, one of the Y. M. C. A. leaders in India, is a guest in Marion today and will address a dinner audience at the local Y tonight.

Caste system and other present day evils of the country are needed and beneficial when originally planned and operated in India, Aaron said. India is slow as compared with America, but her religion gives natives no encouragement to advance, and the money situation there allows interest rates as high as 80 per cent, making the borrower almost helpless.

In connection with the need of young men to set examples of living in India, he said the Y. M. C. A. has done much beneficial work in this direction. Banks and savings institutions, as well as schools and churches, have been founded by their efforts, he said.

Kiwanians were urged to boost plans for ladies' night next Wednesday night.

The conference has been under way since yesterday in the offices of W. B. Stewart, Cleveland attorney, who probably will be named chairman of the board of directors and legal counsel for the concern. Representatives of the various potteries involved are also in attendance.

STORMS SWEEP OVER 6 TOWNS IN ARKANSAS

Scores Injured, While All Wire Communication Is Disrupted in North

ONE CITY DESTROYED

New Dangers Feared as Rivers Threaten To Inundate Cotton Lands

By International News Service

Forty-seven lives lost and scores injured is today believed to be the toll of a series of tornadoes which yesterday and last night struck various sections of Arkansas.

Telephone and telegraph communication is disrupted in the northern portion of the state but fragmentary reports tell of the destruction of several towns and of the removal of dead and injured to hospitals at Batesville, near Guion, which was reported partially destroyed.

The towns struck by the tornado were Sneeds, where 14 are reported dead; Alicia, 11 killed, according to reports; three dead at Guion, nearly 30 injured; seven dead at Tuxedo, and two dead at Parkin.

Two additional dead were reported from Monfield, a village near Guion, by trainmen on the Missouri Pacific railroad.

In addition to the storm damage, new dangers threatened the eastern portion of the devastated district today. The White and several smaller rivers have been swollen from torrential rains and are threatening to inundate cotton lands near the Mississippi. Flood stages have been passed.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 11— Two score persons were reported dead and many injured today from tornadoes which struck in the northern part of this state last night.

More than five towns were said to be wiped out.

According to the sheriff at Newport, 21 persons are dead at Swifton, where the number of fatalities is expected to be the heaviest. The sheriff also said that 30 persons were taken to hospitals from Guion, Ark., another town struck by the twister, but the number of fatalities could not be learned.

Almond, a small town struck by the twister was said to have three deaths and a large number of injured. This town was directly in the path of the tornado.

Sighted at Calico Rock

Two persons were reported killed at Moorfield, Ark., and it was expected that the total would be increased.

It was said that the tornado was first sighted at Calico Rock, Ark., from where it traveled eastward with great rapidity. The twister was said to have cut a path about two miles wide.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 11—Wheat prices fluctuated rapidly yesterday in a range of about 2½c and closed lower. Sentiment was mixed, the trade had been evened up for the government report and prices responded readily to either buying or selling, which came and went with varying factors in the news. Corn followed wheat most of the time up did oats and rye

At the close wheat prices registered net losses of ⅞@1¼c for the day. Corn was ⅝@⅞c lower; oats, ⅞@1c down, and rye was ½d higher to 1¼c lower. Winnipeg, while following the local market early, was firmer late, closing only ⅛c lower.

Wheat Opens Lower

The local professional element and put crowd were apparently well cleaned up in wheat for the government report and were ready to follow the market. A general desire to sell at the opening on a bearish interpretation of the report both here and abroad made initial prices around a cent lower. However there was a good demand for the offerings through commission houses and local bulls.

Prices advanced sharply to above the previous close with early sellers buying, but the upward price movement met as much opposition as the early break and a reaction occurred which carried values back below the early lows. Just before the close another moderate rally was made on a report from Washington that farm interests conferring with President Hoover had recommended lower freight rates for export grains.

Aside from the rather spectacular nervousness of the market yesterday, the wheat situation was little changed. Crop advices were most satisfactory, including the weekly summaries by trade journal and the government. Liverpool closed 1@ 1¼d lower on the domestic condition report, and this also allayed fears of cold weather scares in Europe. Export demand was moderate, but no sales were effected as prices were considerably out of line.

May Interest Declines

The May open interest declined another 2,000,000 bu. on Wednesday, and from the statement the commitments appeared to have been moved to the distant months. Sentiment at the close was very mixed, but in view of the break from yesterday's early close of the bearish pessimism was the manifest nervousness of the market, bullish sentiment did not appear as strong. A continued nervous tone with farm relief plans and weather the dominating factors is generally looked for.

Corn prices were mainly influenced by the action of the wheat market, but the yellow cereal moved in a narrower range with a lighter trade. Cash interests bought the May and July, while local longs pare July and September support, pit observers said.

Premise of large cut shipments of corn with the movement of the Chicago fleet probably within the next week is bringing a friendlier feeling toward corn. Speculative interests are moving their activities mainly to the distant options, however. Despite the improving supply and demand situation, aggressive action has been tempered because of the uncertainty and mixed speculative outlook in wheat.

In the cash market wheat was steady; corn unchanged to 1c higher; oats steady to 1c higher; rye dull, and barley steady.

Cars inspected were: Wheat, 17; corn, 114; oats, 17; rye, 3; and barley, 12.

WILL SUIT CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT

Motion Filed by Attorneys for Ritter Estate Administrator

Motion to require the third district court of appeals to certify its record in the Charles F Ritter will case was filed in the state supreme court today by the law firm of Clark & Arter attorneys for the administrator, G Carr Larie

The court litigation arose when the widow of the late Charles Ritter elected to take her portion of the estate under the law rather than in accordance with the terms of the will Under the will the property was bequeathed to a number of heirs at the death of Mrs Ritter

The Marion county common pleas court and the court of appeals have both held that these heirs are indefinitely entitled to their share of the estate since Mrs Ritter elected to take the portion accorded her by law rather than to abide by the terms of the will

It is the contention of the administrator and his attorneys that the heirs are not entitled to their share of the estate until the death of Mrs. Ritter By the act on started today they will attempt to have the supreme court hand down the final decision

Hearing Continued

Hearing on exceptions filed in probate court to the accounts of Attorney Carter Tatton the administrator of the estate of the late Joseph Hepp, has been continued until April 28 The exceptions were filed by Pauline Hepp sister of Joseph Hepp According to attorneys involved in the case a point of law is the only issue before the court

To Draw Jury List

The list of names from which juries will be drawn for service in the common pleas court in 1929 will be prepared by a commission composed of Michael C O'Brien and Mr Lamb Uhler Vorhees The commission was appointed today by Judge Sendell

SULLIVAN TO FIGHT BENDER REFERENDUM

Union County Representative Names Grange and Farm Bureau as Supporters

COLUMBUS April 11—Dallas Sullivan youthful member of the Ohio house of representatives and co-sponsor of the increased gas tax law has stepped forth from the ranks to champion the fight against the referendum proposed by Senator George H Bender which seeks equal representation for the cities in the Buckeye states general assembly

Sullivan who hails from Union county declared he would take up the battle on part of the rural districts to oppose Bender's plan of reapportionment of the senators and the representatives

In listing his supporters Sullivan named the Ohio Grange the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation rural school teachers organizations and various other rural clubs

Bender claims that as things stand now the rural representation in the house and senate coming from the minority in population control houses in the legislature

Sullivan led the fight for the measure passed by both houses and which Governor Cooper has indicated he will sign which increases the gas tax from three to four cents in Ohio

It was the representatives statement that Governor Cooper was being browbeaten into his policy of opposing the gas tax by the Ohio automobile association Two days later the governor announced he would support the increased tax measure

Bender recognized as one of the firebrands and influential members of the upper house led the attack on the gas tax bill prior to its passage in the senate

RAID GROH BUILDING AND ARREST THREE

Dover Tavern Entered, Agents Say They Found 2,000 Bottles of Beer

DOVER, April 11—Leo Pastor, Jack Valentine, "Curly" Ross and Irene Engler, three of whom were arrested following a raid by state dry agents on the Venice tavern, near here, will be turned over to federal authorities for prosecution on the liquor charges, it was announced by local police today.

All are to be taken to Cleveland some time this afternoon where they will be arraigned on charges of possessing, selling and maintaining a nuisance to violate the national prohibition laws.

Miss Engler is a waitress in the tavern and Valentine and Pastor are the alleged proprietors. Ross, who was previously arrested, is said to own the fixtures in the inn and former Mayor Peter J. Groh owns the building in which the roadhouse is located. Agents declared they obtained 2,000 bottles of beer and more than 600 gallons of wine when they raided Ross' home recently.

CHURCH MERGER PLAN DISCUSSED

Speaker Here, Tells of Move To Unite Three Denominations

"The movement toward the uniting of the Evangelical Synod, the United Brethren and Reformed churches of America is not man made, but is out of the spirit of God. It is one of those steps in the progress of the Kingdom, which is natural," the Rev. Henry Vieth, of St. Louis, Mo., declared in his address before members of Salem Evangelical church last night.

The Rev. Mr. Vieth talked for an hour, strongly advocating the merger of the churches, and speaking of the educational program and ministerial work in the church. He is general secretary for budget and promotion of the Evangelical Synod and came here to give information that would be of interest to Salem church as a part of the synod.

Forming of the United Church in America, a uniting of the three churches, would give this church a membership of over a million.

MRS. GANN VICTOR AFTER SOCIAL WAR

Vice President's Hostess Will Taste First Fruits at Dinner Tonight

WASHINGTON, April 11—The heavy cannonading and furious musketry that have featured the capital's great social war died down today to desultory sniping.

The main engagement is over, and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, half-sister and official hostess to Vice President Curtis, emerges victorious.

Tonight she will taste the first sweet fruits of her victory at a formal dinner to be given by the Chilean ambassador. She will march proudly to her seat on the arm of her host as the ranking lady present. In her wake will trail the wives of diplomats and other ladies of the official set.

It took the concerted, if reluctant, action of two score harassed and embarrassed diplomats to insure Mrs. Gann her seat but she now possesses it indubitably, and all the sniping from the vantage point of Washington tea-tables cannot dislodge her. Henceforth at all ceremonial and official dinners, Mrs. Gann is to be seated as the ranking lady whenever Mrs. Hoover is not present.

The only cloud on the horizon that might disturb Mrs. Gann's serenity is the possibility that capital society generally will not accept the ruling of the diplomatic corps at the private and more intimate affairs. However, she can always stand on her prerogative of declining to go to homes where she is not accorded the rank for which she fought such a spectacular battle.

COMMITTEES MAKE REPORTS TO LODGE

Discussion of Sports Program Is Features of Eagles' Meeting

An auditing committee was appointed at a meeting of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held last night in the lodge rooms. It consists of Otto G. Ebling, Fred Hayner and George Hechten. His report is expected to be made at the next regular meeting of the lodge, next Wednesday night.

The stunt of the meeting last night was delayed from 7:30 until 8 o'clock in order that the members might listen in on the Eagles' broadcasting program from station WLW, Cincinnati. These broadcasts, which are being sponsored by the state lodge in connection with the statewide membership campaign, are to be held every Wednesday night during the months of April and May over station WLW.

Various committees made reports last night these including the boxing committee memorial committee, and the baseball committee. The recreational baseball committee was authorized to attend the annual recreational baseball banquet to be held tonight. The chairman of the committee also announced that the first practice for the Eagles' team, which won the city championship last year, will be held next Monday night. The baseball committee announced that the orders had been sent in for the new uniforms for the Eagles' Sunday baseball team.

Seventeen applications for membership were received at the meeting. The next initiation of a class of candidates will be held Sunday afternoon, May 12. This will be known as "Mother's Day" class.

BLOCKS CRISIS

Von Hindenburg's Virtual Calls for Inter-Party Truce

BERLIN, April 11—Acting upon President Von Hindenburg's dictum—"I don't want a cabinet crisis during the Paris reparations conference"—an inter-party truce between the five coalition parties of Germany was in effect today.

The president is expected to approve three new Centrist cabinet ministers who will fill the gaps occasioned by that party's retirement from the government last winter.

These ministers will reinforce Chancellor Mueller's cabinet and once more give it its full complement of representatives of all coalition parties—Socialists, Germans, People's Party, Centrists, Bavarian People's party and Democrats.

that she lived near Delaware with a family named Platt, for some time and after the death of Mrs. Frank Platt was married to Platt, who was many years her senior.

Baby Strangled

Their baby, Estella May Platt, was strangled to death when she and Platt were living near Pagetown, Morrow county, according to the records. Morrow, who had been living at the Platt home, was placed on trial on the charge of having strangled the child and was sentenced to the penitentiary in 1913. He was released about a year later.

Mr. and Mrs. Platt were divorced several years later in Delaware county, it is thought, but were remarried about six weeks later. Again she left him, coming to Marion to marry Johnson.

In her application for a marriage license, issued here to her and Johnson, May 3, 1920, in Marion county probate court, she was listed as not having been previously married.

In her marriage license application here, she gave her name as Stella Mae DeLyle, and her age as 24. She said she was the daughter of Frank De Lyle and Catherine Van Nore, and was born in Messina, N. Y. She gave her occupation as a bookkeeper in Marion. Although the Rev. T. H. McAfee was named in the application to perform the ceremony, the couple were united by the Rev. M. L. Buckley May 3, 1920.

TEXAS DROPS MASK IN FEDERAL COURT

Night Club Queen Snaps Answers to United States Prosecutor

prosecute her by Mabel Willebrandt. During Morrison's cross-examination she answered his questions curtly. Yesterday she called him "my dear," and today every time Morrison said "What's that, ma'am?" Texas scowled.

Morrison questioned Texas concerning her financial arrangements. Her contract showed her to receive half the profits of the club, approximately $2500 a week.

"Didn't your lawyer draw that contract out of a clear sky?" asked Morrison.

"He drew it in his office," cracked Texas.

The crowd laughed and Federal Judge Edwin Thomas rapped like a woodpecker for order.

Does Not Drink

"This is a trial and not a show," admonished Judge Thomas.

Texas again testified she did not drink liquor and knew of no liquor being sold at the Salon Royale.

She admitted that she had seen people intoxicated in the club.

"I've seen people drunk in lots of places," said Texas.

The blonde curls of Texas shook furiously when Morrison accused her of not wanting to be a partner in the club because she knew the place was selling liquor.

"I did not," she exclaimed, her eyes flashing in rage with her belt of diamonds on her left wrist.

During the legal conversation between herself and the prosecutor, Texas declared:

"I don't wise-crack. I think it's very stupid."

She also revealed that patrons of the club often brought in suit cases filled with liquor.

Describes Games

Texas, in reply to a question, described one of the games, the night club boys and girls played.

"It was the aerial test," she related, her blue eyes brightening. "Somebody would walk five times around with a cane, let the cane fall and then shake hands with the person to whom it pointed. It was more fun."

Among those who came in "almost every night to say hello" were Henry Carrington, Sonny and Jock Whitney, according to Texas.

Texas described Prohibition Agent James White, who posed as an oil man to get evidence at the Salon Royal, as "fresh."

Morrison probed deeply into Texas' statements that White tried to "date her up" and sent her orchids.

The prosecutor showed his irritation openly. Texas ignored his state of mind and rattled along about how "every club was crowded" that she ever played in.

"Are you quite through?" Morrison would interrupt sarcastically.

"Yep," Tex would answer.

At another point in the cross examination Texas exclaimed indignantly:

"Do you think I would commercialize my friends?"

Thereafter both the government and the defense rested its case and the summing up to the jury began.

In his address to the jury, Maxwell Lopin, defense counsel, declared that Prohibition Agent James White, the main government witness, admitted he had "lied" and admitted bringing his own liquor to the Salon Royale.

Lopin spoke quite harshly of the prohibition agent.

"He was sent here to 'get' Texas Guinan," shouted Lopin, "if he'd lie about one thing, wouldn't he lie about anything? Is he any better than a thief or a murderer? And he spent $600 of the taxpayers' money to make 12 visits to the club when one visit would have done."

"And where did he get the money to buy orchids for Miss Guinan?"

Communication Out

Telephone and telegraph lines are down in the stricken area.

Reports that 30 dead and wounded had been transferred from Guion to a hospital in Batesville could not be confirmed from here. A general call for aid, however, has trickled through and Red Cross contingents may be mobilized from here.

It is understood the midwest branch of the American Red Cross at St. Louis has been asked to send all the aid available from Southern Missouri and Arkansas centers.

Communication between Memphis and Northern Arkansas points was broken early last night, indicating the storm struck some time early in the evening.

Originates in Southwest

That the tornado originated in Southwest Arkansas late yesterday and swept diagonally across the state, hitting here and there, doing most damage at Guion, Moorfield and northwestern points, was indicated from reports received here.

In the absence of communication other than railroads and highways, accurate checkup of damage and loss of life probably will not be made until late today.

Truckloads of volunteers are joining relief crews to go to the aid of the stricken towns.

LEVIATHAN ENDS ITS "NO LIQUOR" POLICY

Wet Policy for American Ship Announced by New Owners

ping circles today that this new policy of selling liquor beyond the 12-mile limit will result in a 20 per cent increase in passenger trade for the Chapman ships.

The new policy is the same as has long been in practice on other private American lines—the Panama Pacific, the Grace, Munson and Ward and Panama Mail.

Had Signal Pledge

In 1923 the government lines voluntarily took the pledge. It actually was Mr. Sheedy who signed the order making the United States and American lines "dry" six years ago.

The new order of Sheedy's was a surprise. However, he made it plain that there would be no public bars on the ships, and no promiscuous drinking. He said he had obtained a legal opinion that no law would be violated under the arrangement he has ordered. The United States supreme court has ruled it is not illegal for an American ship to possess and sell liquor beyond the 12-mile limit.

"We are not interested in any direct financial return from the sale of liquor, but only desire to give passengers the same privileges enjoyed by all other transatlantic steamers," said Sheedy.

"If passengers desire the serving of wines or liquors we must—in order to maintain our position—do the same as our competitors."

The board of directors to the Chapman company will meet shortly, at which time the Sheedy order probably will be officially confirmed.

U. S. BORDER FORCE IS INCREASED 1,500

Station Men To Protect American Lives from Mexican Revolution

MEXICO CITY, April 11—An alleged plot to dynamite the private train of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, commander-in-chief of the federal armies, is under investigation at Torreon by the military police, according to a dispatch from Torreon today. This is the latest of a long list of reported assassination plots against Gen. Calles.

WASHINGTON, April 11—With the dispatch of 1,500 more American troops to Mexican border stations, there are now about 7,000 soldiers, infantry and cavalry and artillery, strung out at strategic points along the border to protect American lives and property, war department officials estimated today.

The reinforcements were ordered from Fort D. A. Russell, in Wyoming, by Maj. Gen. William Lassiter, as a precautionary measure. General Lassiter has wide discretionary authority as to the disposition of his forces.

Escape to U. S.

EL PASO, Tex., April 11—Concentration of Mexican rebel forces in a small strip of Sonora lining the international border, where escape to the United States will be open, appeared to be the strategy of revolution leaders today.

Less than a hundred miles of this border territory is now in control of the rebels. All seaports have been closed to them and strong federal columns are reported closing in from all sides.

A federal army yesterday occupied Juarez which was hastily evacuated by the command of Gen. Marcelo Caraveo late Tuesday night. A civil administration was installed and the customs house reopened. Movement of exports and imports, held up by embargo while the rebels held the town, was resumed.

Interests of Public Betrayed.

The Chicago Bar association has recommended that court proceedings be instituted to recover public funds diverted to padded payrolls of the law department of the sanitary district up there between and including the years 1925 and 1928 The recommendation follows a preliminary report of a special committee of the bar association the survey of which disclosed a wholesale debauchery of the public treasury

An idea of the extent of the raid on public funds under the sanitary district administration against which charges have been made may be had when it is stated that where as in 1924 the personnel of the district's law department numbered forty one and this year numbers but forty five which has been found adequate to meet all demands upon it the number of lawyers and others employed in the department jumped to 294 in 1925 to 330 in 1926 the following year to 361 and last year it was 564 In other words 561 lawyers and non lawyers were employed in the district's law department in 1925 to handle the work which this year is being performed efficiently by twenty two lawyers and twenty three assistants

This Chicago betrayal of the interests of the public is gross in the extreme but hardly if any more so than some of the treasury raids which have been disclosed in New York City and other big centers of population where public funds have been utilized to maintain political fences—an evil which can not be laid at the door of any particular political party, of which we have proof in the fact that the two cities named are not under administrations lined up with the same party one having a Republican administration and the other a Democratic both of which have been targets for criticism and reproach

We would not wish the foregoing to be taken as an intimation that civic corruption is limited to the great population centers or still greater political divisions Corruption may be just as great comparatively in the smaller centers The fact that we do not learn more concerning corruption in the smaller political divisions is that it is not so greatly exploited by the press as it is when uncovered in the large

The fact is that there has been more or less of a let down in state and municipal government alike since the voters began to neglect the exercising of their rights of franchise and that let down if one will give a little study to the situation will be found to have been the more marked since the primary system was introduced to become the curse of the land it has proved.

A Yacht with a History.

The Mayflower known under five administrations as the President's yacht is out of commission at Philadelphia under the order of President Hoover to effect the saving on an annual maintenance cost placed at $200 000 and to free to other duties her complement of nine officers and 118 men It was not our impression that her crew was so large even back in the days before her conversion from a coal to an oil burner but in any event the saving, is considerable, and there unquestionably is a shortage of men to man our fighting ships which the releasing of the Mayflower's crew will to some extent lessen

Moreover it is easy to understand how one of the efficiency of the president who as secretary of commerce used a motor boat capable of making twenty five knots an hour and over would not be much impressed by the Mayflower which at her best can not exceed fourteen and is not well arranged for the purposes to which he might wish to put her

But despite all this it is to be hoped that the yacht will not be sold as has been suggested Some successor in the presidential chair as we have heretofore pointed out, might not view her through Mr Hoover's glasses and in any event so rich in national interest has been her history that she should be preserved for her historic worth if for no other

The Mayflower was built as the plate on her capstan shows on the Clyde in Scotland in 1896 She was constructed for the late Ogden Goelet and is said to have been patterned after Kaiser Wilhelm's imperial yacht Meteor At the breaking out of the Spanish American war in 1898 she was purchased by the navy for use as a dispatch boat for $420 000 which in the light of the bargain counter rules of shipping the government has been conducting seems a bit excessive

Later the yacht was assigned to blockade duty off the coast of Cuba In 1900 she did special service in the work of relieving sufferers from the Porto Rican typhoon The two years following she served as a cruiser in Caribbean waters and when George Dewey was elevated to the rank of admiral in 1899 she was turned over to him as his flagship In 1900 she was used by Rear Admiral Coghlan as his flagship when a revolution in Panama caused the sending of a naval force there In 1901 she was on a European cruise

In addition to the five presidents and many other notable Americans many foreign notables have trod her decks among them the king and queen of Belgium the members of the Russo Japanese peace commission carried by her to Smith New Hampshire where the treaty ending the Russo Japanese war was negotiated and the members of the Liquor war commission headed by General Joffre who were conveyed by her from Hampton Roads to Washington

President Roosevelt first saw the Mayflower while viewing fleet maneuvers and soon thereafter ordered her assigned to his own use since which time she has been used by our presidents up to Mr Hoover President Taft made numerous cruises aboard her as did President Harding the latter using her for a number of trips of a week or over at sea President Wilson used the craft only infrequently apparently not caring for cruising It was President Coolidge however who seemed to derive the greatest amount of satisfaction from the presidential yacht and he found the boat a satisfactory medium for vacationing from the duties of president as well as a means for entertaining his friends

It seems to us that a vessel with such a history should be treasured as we have said for its part in our national history If not for use again as a presidential yacht We would lose little if anything by thus keeping it for were it to command no better price than many far newer vessels sold by the Shipping board such a price could be realized at almost any time were it sold for junk

Now the physicians are quarreling over whether morning exercise is an asset or a liability. About all of us past middle life can do to preserve our margins of safety is to all quiet and see how the fight results

The motorists who have been blocking street crossings regardless of the rights of pedestrians as well as the potential killers who make turns at thirty miles an hour through traffic will do well to note that there are fines provided in the new traffic ordinance to fit their cases

Secretary of State Stimson is to be admired for passing the buck to the Washington diplomatic corps in the Gann matter stating that officials of the state department have more important duties to perform than acting as arbiters in social matters and that they have been instructed to give no advice or suggestions in such matters hereafter

The trial of a New York City night club hostess developed the fact that it cost a dry enforcement officer $60 on the average each night he visited her club and that he made something like a dozen visits Until we get our public war debt paid and get squared around financially wouldn't it be good business sense for our dry officers to do their sleuthing at less expensive clubs?

Governor Cooper and Adjutant General Reynolds have announced that they will pay their own expenses on their trip to Europe next fall and not take advantage of the state measure's provision for $2a 000 to pay their expenses and a commission A days or two ago we referred to the 223 laws— good bad and indifferent —passed at the session of the general assembly just closed This law providing for a raid on the treasury may be identified as one of the bad variety Why should the people of Ohio pay for junketing trips?

Fermented Milk Aid to Health.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Lots of people write to inquire about the use of buttermilk and other acid milks They want to know if they are good for health

A few days ago I told about the value of such milk in overcoming the weakness and other distabilities of undernourished babies Similar good effects may come to the adult who makes use of this food

I used the word food on purpose Too many persons regard milk merely as a beverage This is a great mistake Not only is it a food but it is mankind's chief and most valuable food

What am I say to impress this on your mind? Everybody should take milk in some form every day of the year It carries elements of vital importance to your physical welfare The sooner you realize this and act upon the conviction the better for you

But it must be admitted there are some persons who do not handle milk well The digestive powers are low or at least unsuited for the digesting of ordinary milk

In such cases it may well be that some form of acid milk may meet the situation It is on this account I am writing today

As I have said about babies there are human stomachs that do not manufacture sufficient acid to carry on the process of digestion in satisfactory manner In consequence indigestion distress and indernourishment may result

It is surprising how the muscles tone and appearance of the skin improve by a change of diet Merely adding acid to the milk may feel this improvement

Civilization produces its disadvantages One soft food and predigested meals tend to weaken the teeth Decay and diseased roots and pussy gums are all too common Infections take place and the effects of such infections are felt throughout the body

One of the evil effects of infection is a lessened supply of the gastric juice It is decreased in quantity and reduced in quality This effect in its turn disturbs digestion and lowers the food value of the things eaten

Buttermilk has long been recognized as acceptable when other foods give disagreed It is known in these modern days that the presence of the lactic acid has been responsible for the good effects

In some countries the milk has been purposely soured This is true in Oriental lands and in all hot countries It is impossible with the conveniences they have to keep the milk sweet Such races have fermented the supply to make it acceptable as a food as well as to preserve it

In the process of fermentation the curds are broken into fine particles In the stomach curds will form but many times they are too large and hard to be acted upon by the gastric juice particularly if it is low in acid content

In the laboratory first and now in the commercial world artificially produced buttermilk is made By the addition of lactic acid to the Pasilus bulgaricus the fermentation is hastened

Editorial Opinion

GENERAL PERSHING FOR PARIS

The suggestion that General Pershing be appointed to succeed Ambassador Herrick at Paris is a typical manifestation of our national penchant for honoring military heroes by making them presidents or sending them abroad as diplomats We can't make them dukes or even viscounts as they are in Great Britain so we reward them with high civil office whether or not they are fitted for it Scarcely a three star general came out of the civil war who was not mentioned or nominated for the presidency Grant was twice elected and proved a flop

With the exception of Washington who was more than a soldier we have had poor luck with soldier presidents as have no better luck in rewarding valor with diplomatic and consular appointments As late as 1900 a relic of Shiloh tired in long leather boots and a black cotton shirt slept at his desk in the consulate general at Hong Kong His tendency to confer military figures offices in which they rust their own reputations and damage their country's interests did not end with the war of the states Admiral Dewey was prominently talked of for the presidency General Pershing himself has been discussed in that connection although less enthusiastically

The advocates of making General Pershing ambassador to France are swayed by two popular ideas One of these is that a successful soldier must necessarily make a success of anything else to which his hand is turned and the other that with the assistance of the state department and an efficient embassy staff an ambassador has nothing to do but look pretty and indulge occasionally in platitudinous speeches These are both fallacies The very qualities which make for greatness in a military commander frequently make him a failure in the conduct of affairs where tact and diplomacy are required while the achievements of such ambassadors as Herrick Sharman Houghton and Fletcher show that the head of a mission abroad has a real job in his own name General Pershing's well known fondness for the French people would be no asset only if it were balanced by a clear and sympathetic understanding of the heart and mind of his own people such as Ambassador Herrick had acquired in his climb from farm boy to financier Otherwise as Grit Bismarck observed over friendliness between a diplomat and the nation to which he is accredited can be a handicap

General Pershing's appointment to Paris would be a serious discouragement to men in the foreign service that are probably better equipped for the post than he is and for that reason as well as for the other reasons mentioned the administration should make sure that the next ambassador to France has more qualifications for handling the most delicate diplomatic task in which this country is involved at the moment than having commanded the A E F —Detroit Free Press

BUS LINES AND PAVED ROADS

One pointed criticism made against the passenger bus lines in many state is that they have the free use of highways improved at a cost of millions of dollars Engineers point to the fact that operation of heavy busses helps wear out the paving and contend that the large number of the paying might be expected fairly to contribute to the highway maintenance fund Steam railways and traction lines have urged that criticism to the attention of public officials many times

A better method of handling that subject may come from negotiations now under way in the East An offer without precedent in the passenger bus business has been submitted to the public utilities commissions of Pennsylvania Maryland New Jersey and New York by a union of interests representing the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio steam railways and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company These interests have decided to establish passenger bus lines connecting Philadelphia with New York City New Jersey seashore resort cities and Baltimore They offer to pay a proportionate share of their gross earnings to the various states through which their bus lines will be operated to be credited to the highway maintenance fund

They admit the value of the right of way and the privilege of operation over the improved highways and are willing to help maintain the paved roads Obviously these states will meet the offer of the new bus line people and give it consideration It will offer a new income for highway maintenance that would be of importance if the plan were made compulsory in the states and would help stabilize the passenger bus business by keeping out adventure without funds. It would offer something of importance to corporations able to finance themselves and maintain service Certainly other states would watch the negotiations under way Out of the situation may come a better method for handling the passenger bus line business—Ohio State Journal

New York Day by Day.

BY O O McINTYRE

New York April 11—A New York policeman is paid a fraction more than $34 a week for his first two years of service He then receives a slight lift and after five years of pounding the pavement is paid $ 200 a year—top salary for the ordinary copper

There are about twenty rookies ready and willing to step into every available job The glamour of The Finest is irresistible among New York boys They want to become plain clothes men and perform those daring deeds that thrilled them in detective fiction and movies

The most exclusive branch of copdom is the mounted service This means a spirited horse and generally an assignment in an aristocratic area Those of a romantic trend always try to land there Men, distinguish themselves in gallantry by rescuing swooning ladies from runaway horses in park

The mounted cop receives no higher pay but attains a swashbuckling halo not possible in other forms of copping The grafting coppers tries to reach the motorcycle squads He knows the speeding motorist would rather pay than go to court But a non grafting cop usually receives more than his salary

On Christmas Easter and Labor day he receives presents—mostly money and checks —from those along his beat to whom he has been of service It is not bribery Fifth Avenue traffic cops receive the biggest gifts One in the upper forties received $5 000 from various friends last Christmas

A pier copper was given a trip to Paris with his wife by a millionaire And later was suspended on grafting charges The most prolific points for seasonal gifts are the Avenue Times square and at the various ship docks along West street Wall street has its own private cops who get the grass

Many coppers have used the job to go higher Four mounted men have married society heiresses they met along bridle paths Two have been made rich by tips furnished by financial magnates I am told an ex flattie now steams his yacht into one of the fashionable mooring places So cops get on

Is Science a Robot?

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

The human spirit is an aspen leaf ever balancing in the shifting winds of its life is choked when the force of a fixed fashion glues it like a drenching rain motionless to the storm

The man who keeps his energies at one only one side may give his mind the edge a crashing projectile but it will be destructive to truth and beauty

We proudly proclaim this to be the age of science and our pride is justified by the great results we see immediately around us But we look farther and higher, we perceive that something is wanting For support I am not going to appeal to a moralist, but to a poet How many general readers are the lately have read and pondered Edgar Allan Poe's Sonnet to Science? I fear that it dropped out of the sight of the vast majority If so it is worth while to set it forth again here

Science' true daughter of Old Time thou art
Who alterest all things with thy peering eyes
Why preyest thou thus upon the poet's heart
Vultures whose wings are dull realities
How should he love thee Or how deem thee wise
Who wouldst not leave him in his wandering
To seek for treasure in the jewelled skies,
Albeit he soared with an undaunted wing
Hast thou not dragged Diana from her car
And driven the hamadryad from the wood
To seek shelter in some happier star?
Hast thou not torn the naiad from her flood
The elfin from the green grass and from me
The summer dream beneath the tamarind tree?

For many persons today such sentiments are anathema They believe in nothing but science Their attitude is the result of the marvelous rush forward by which applied science has virtually transformed the physical world as it surrounds us here on the earth The rapidity of this progress has blinded them They have lost the whole in the details

Poe was not attacking the achievements of science as such But he knew what too many seem to forget today namely that scientific aims and the scientific method express but a part of the aspiration and nature of the human mind He was not mourning as the necessities of his verse might seem to indicate flight of Diana or the hamadryad before the outburst of this new light Let them go with Apollo from the shrine but do not banish along with them the free soul of man whose breath of life is the imagination If you make the imagination a mere slave to scientific research you kill all spirituality You materialize and mechanize everything In a sense mythology is as essential to humanity as science The oracles can not forever be made dumb They only change with time Each age has its own oracle Science itself is no more than an oracle of which also it may be said that its voice runs through the arched roofs in words deceiving For new facts are continually altering its formulas and its theories and it can not be true to its own aim without welcoming and seeking constantly to bring about such changes

By making a fetish of science some people appear to think they can show that the universe is nothing but a chemico physical laboratory which runs itself or a gigantic robot which never had a maker It was because Poe's poetic soul felt the uprising of materialism which has brought about this starvation of spiritual growth today that he wrote his sonnet to voice the protest of human nature against being bound in the gyves of brute matter or helplessly entangled in the tape lines of physical measurement —Copyright 1929 International Feature Service Inc

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

The newest scheme is for a bridge and two islands to connect England with the continent of Europe Years ago talk began about a tunnel between England and France Napoleon would like to have had such a tunnel when he planned his military raid on Britain Englishmen for the most part have not been much interested in opening their tight little isle to easy approach from the continent They have had too many bad dreams about Napoleon

A Michigan woman died the other day after having lived the eighty five years of her life on two farms within five miles of each other She was born on one and when she was married moved to the other where she lived the rest of her long life It is said she never was out of the county One wonders in the hasty hurly of this world whether this woman found peace in the quietude of her life—or peace something that is entirely on the inside and is little affected by outward circumstances

They have been figuring up the cost of co ed education in the University of Kansas It seems that some girls can get by on $a 50 a month while others need $10 It depends somewhat on whether she darns her stockings or throws them away A motor car also has some bearing on the matter The fact is this is not an investigation of the cost of education but of the cost of coed That's different Almost anybody is in favor of education in some degree If is not so much a matter of money as of intellectual energy

New Music Composition

FEATURE OF RADIO PROGRAM

Is Dedicated to Actress

BY MAC L. ROY.

"KISU," a new musical composition by Sarfio, dedicated to Grace Ulric, will be played in the guest of the Cities Service hour o'clock Friday night over the AF network of the NBC system. Another interesting feature of the is the violin solo, "Zuegreneraen" by Sascha Fidelmam. With accompaniment of the orchestra, Cavaliers will be heard in "Roses Remembrance" and their usual of typical songs. Other numincluded in the broadcast are s "Arabesque in A," Saint-"Le Rouet d'Omphale" and gems from "The Dollar Princess" by Fall.

YEAR-ROUND RADIO USE

WITH its modern receiving equipment and improvements in broadcasting stations it is almost amusing to think that only several years ago people used to let their batteries run down in late spring and put their radio receiver "on the shelf" for the summer. But one can hardly blame them for in those days the limits of broadcast reception were vastly diminished in the summer time, the noise level was almost unbearably high, and the broadcast stations slackened their efforts during the summer months. In fact there was a general let-down on the part of the broadcaster, the listener and of the manufacturer.

As the present summer season approaches, this condition is practically absent and radio enthusiasm continues unabated from its winter months. One reason for this is the effort of the broadcaster to please the public. In spite of the great amount of effort that goes into the making of good radio programs, broadcasters are working on them as hard during the warm as during the cold months. The number of program sponsors with the large chain organizations is nearly as high now as during the winter, and this assures a good diversity. For the first time in radio history, the two large chain broadcasters have adopted the policy of presenting their biggest features straight through the year. Technical progress is being made too. Many broadcasting stations are equipped with transmitters of improved range that will enable DX-ers to tune in on them even during the summer months.

RADIO DEVICE AIRPLANE AID

RED, green and yellow lights, familiar in railroad signals and in more recent years in highway traffic signals, have now been adopted to aid aviation in a new radio echo altimeter developed by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the General Electric Co.

However, the lights in the altimeter do not indicate "stop," "go" and "caution." In the Alexanderson altimeter the lights give a visual warning of depth to the flier. When the green light flashes on the cockpit panel the pilot knows that he is 250 feet above ground, when the yellow light shows he is 100 feet above the ground and the red light gives a positive warning that the ground is only 50 feet below.

The interval taken for a radio impulse to travel from a plane to the ground and back again to a receiving set in the plane is the basis of the new instrument.

RHEUMATISM

Guaranteed Relief in One Treatment Or Money Refunded

Here's good news for the men and women who suffer the excruciating pain, the crippling torture of chronic rheumatism, gout, lumbago, neuralgia, arthritis, sciatica and similar ailments due to acid-laden blood, muscles and joints. You can get positive guaranteed relief by tomorrow morning with a wonderful new medical discovery from Germany, or the treatment costs you nothing—that's the absolute guarantee!

Foreign authorities have proven to their own satisfaction that certain medically approved ingredients in a marvelous new compound, called Transkutan, can be absorbed through the skin and act quickly through the circulation to break up and drive out the acid deposits, relieve dogged, gripping, sleepless, maddening pain—and restore freer use of stiff, sore muscles and lame joints.

One Transkutan treatment, these scientists say, is equivalent in effect to 10 to 15 baths at the famous German Spas where wealthy people go to get well. Even the first treatment with Preparatory Transkutan No. 1 will break up the agonizing grip of rheumatism or no cost. Continued use of Regular Transkutan No. 2 for a short time, depending upon the seriousness of your case, should show progressive improvement until, as in most cases, every last trace of pain is driven out of your system. It just depends on how serious you are in wanting to get well.

Transkutan has brought quick, lasting relief to hundreds—yes, thousands—of sufferers. It is meeting with marked success and has been approved and adopted by leading European hospitals and sanitariums, and other authorities.

Now, right in your own home, at your own convenience, at a mere fraction of the time and cost, you can do what those who can afford it accomplish by going abroad for six months or a year. Transkutan, remember, is a real medical treatment, not just a palliative. The very first treatment brings relief, or money back.

An interesting FREE book, called "How to Drive the Agonies of Rheumatism Out of Your System" tells about this astonishing new treatment which has brought such blessed, comforting relief to so many. Get your FREE copy and read what Transkutan is, what it does, how it works, what it can do for you. No matter how long you have suffered, no matter how hopeless your case may have seemed, get a copy of the book and see what Transkutan promises. Get your copy free at Henney & Cooper, 130 W. Center St.—Adv.

Here's One Thing You Can Bank On

If Goodyear Tires were not the best tire-buy for you—we wouldn't be recommending them.

We live in this town, and expect to be here a long time.

Common sense tells us we can build our business only as we take good care of our customers.

Selling a customer anything but the best is not taking care of him.

We know that—so we recommend Goodyear Tires.

They're the best tires—proved by the fact that more people ride on them than on any other kind.

That's why we handle them.

That's why you should use them.

Ritzy Rosalie

ALTHOUGH the tricorne hat rests on many a masculine head in our history books it has also found itself in favor in feminine fashion books from time to time. It is still in favor with those who can stand such a severe type of chapeau but there are those who prefer the newer Scorne. And Rosalie is one of them. Perhaps she is going to economize on her luncheon so she can purchase one of the youthful looking Dutch caps, so popular with her flapper friends.

"GREAT SALVATION" IS SERMON TOPIC

Leads Wonders of World, Evangelist Tells Local Congregation

A well filled auditorium heard the Rev F I Day, of Indianapolis preach his sermon on "The Great Salvation" last night at Central Christian church where he is conducting revival services

In his sermon the Rev Mr Day said "There were seven great wonders well known to the ancient world but the one great wonder of revelation is the plan of God revealed for man's salvation Sin was described as violation of the laws of ones own being as against others and against God It is disobedience Because of sin man fell in the beginning and the consequences of that sin have been visited upon humanity down to the present day

"The power of free will given to man allowed him to sin The plan of salvation allows man to exercise this same power of will in turning his back upon the power of sin Man inherits much from the past He is degenerate but not wholly degenerate Environment plays a part but through his power to choose his own way he may overcome his environment

"The voice of Christ to every soul is 'Will thou be made whole' The soul can say I will or I will not"

The sermon was one of a series he is giving assisting the Rev G E Groves pastor of the church

Victor Oakley song leader with the Rev Mr Day sang "The Old Rugged Cross" as his solo number

You, too, may have a clear skin

Proud? Justly so!

Every person should have a clear skin. If you have skin blemishes why not get rid of them PERMANENTLY?

THOUSANDS of people have weak, impure blood—to this may be attributed pimples, boils, eczema, "run down" systems, rheumatism and even more serious ailments.

Skin troubles—pimples, boils, eczema, and sallow complexion—are usually but symptoms of a deeper, more dangerous trouble—a lack of the normal count of red cells in the blood

When you take SSS to get rid of these outside blemishes, you are building up the system to ward off the graver diseases of which these blemishes are Nature's warning

SSS is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get the number of your red blood cells back to normal, that sluggish, let down feeling loss of appetite, those pains usually called rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear You get hungry again and sleep soundly, firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong Your nerves become steady You are resistant to disease

Throughout more than a hundred years S S S has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties It is Nature's own blood tonic for improving the appetite, clearing the body of so called skin troubles, and building strength and resistance to disease

SSS increases the count of red cells in the blood Weak impure blood is injurious to the system lowering resistance to disease Rich, red blood builds and sustains the body SSS helps Nature build rich, red blood Good blood improves the processes by which the body is nourished promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building) and works against infection and disease Take SSS daily at mealtime To get full benefit you must take it regularly and over a sufficient period of time At all Drug Stores Ask for the larger size It is more economical

The Forbidden Door

WHAT TERRIBLE EVIL LAY BEHIND ITS MASK?

BY HERMAN LANDON

TWENTY-SEVEN

HANNAN blew out the candle and they left the room. Out in the hall he took Viola's hand and led her toward the staircase. They were halfway down when a common sound made them stop and listen. Mr. Worthrop's clock was striking 8. The clear, melodious peals reverberated through the uneasy house.

"Eight o'clock!" Viola murmured. "And it's black as midnight. Wonder if we'll see the sun again.'

"Sure, soon," said Hannan confidently.

They continued down the stairway as the eighth stroke of the clock sounded below, but suddenly they stopped again. Hannah's fingers closed convulsively about the girl's hand. Silent and quivering, they turned and stared into the darkness.

"What was that?" Viola whispered nervously.

Hannan did not answer. He strained his ears in the direction of the upper landing. A sound, small and vaguely disquieting, came out of the darkness, trembling weirdly against the noises of creaking and sagging timbers.

"Did you hear that?" came again Viola's timid whisper.

Another sound, slight, shapeless, but edged with horrible suggestiveness, floated out to them through the masses of darkness that lay heavily on all sides.

Hannan tightened his grip on her hand. A cold tremor was vibrating along his spine.

"Run down to the library and stay there," he whispered. "I'm going up to investigate. It probably doesn't amount to anything."

He ran back up the stairs, heedless of her whispered protests and the painful twinges in his foot. Viola's little pistol was in his hand, and he recalled what a trifling thing it was. An appalling sound was echoing in his ears, directing his racing steps. In the upper corridor he turned to the left, ran past the room where he had found Viola, struck his shoulder against a corner as he made a sharp turn, and stopped abruptly before an obstruction.

It was a door. He felt a tight stricture at his throat as he fumbled for the knob. The house seemed full of vague and yet terrifying omens of evil. His shaking hand closed about the knob, and then his body stiffened as from a fearful jolt. From the other side of the door came a hoarse, agonized shout.

"Oh! Don't—don't——"

A sharp sensation went like a shudder through Hannan's brain. Another cry came. The echoes rumbled among the shadows. Then, as he thrust the door open, a groan that stopped curiously in the middle.

He sprang forward, his reeling brain registering the light pat-pat of fleeing feet. Then all was still—ominously still. The darkness, cloaking untold horrors, was dread-inspiring. With a desperate effort he shook off a numbing stupor. He searched his pockets for a match. It seemed to take him an inordinately long time to find one. The little flame, fluttering weakly in an atmosphere heavy with dust, revealed a table, a disarranged tablecloth, a half-burned candle.

He lighted the candle, noticing that there were streaks of warm drip along the sides, so it must have been used recently. He looked down at the floor. Close to his feet was a huddled figure, lying face down and with one arm flung wide. His eyes caught a slowly widening patch of crimson on the hardwood floor.

He put the candle down. Gently he moved the figure so the face turned up. With a sharp start he stared into the hideously distorted features.

"Curry!" he exclaimed thickly.

Then he saw that there were still signs of life in the wasted face. The grey film of death was already creeping up over the lips and eyes, but the sunken orbs still held a wavering light. Hannan had a feeling that those feebly smoldering eyes were trying to give him a dying message.

"The door—— Don't enter until—until——"

The feeble light in the dying man's eyes wavered, flickered and vanished. The chest heaved out a little, then settled back very slowly. The fingers twitched, the jaw quavered, and Hannan knew the end had come. For a time he knelt beside the dead man, watching the face turn a grayer hue in the light of the candle.

Then, very vaguely at first, two impressions entered his brain. First he grew conscious of a movement in the shadowed portions of the room. Then footsteps, light and furtive, sounded in the rear, warning him that somebody was stealthily approaching from behind. A thought stirred in his horrified brain. The murderer had not yet had time to escape. He was still in the room, and now he was creeping forward with a cautious and skulking tread, which suggested that he hoped to reach the door and depart before Hannan should notice his presence.

Out of the corner of an eye Hannan glanced at the candle, then at Viola's little pistol which he was still holding. For a moment longer he listened to the stealthy footfalls, now turning toward the door. A resolution steadied his whirling brain. The murderer should not be permitted to escape. The death of Curry, loyal and devoted friend of the Martenets, must be avenged.

He sprang to his feet, in the same instant cursing his tardiness. The murderer had already perceived his purpose. He saw a foot dart out from behind, snuffing out the candle and plunging the room into darkness. He dodged instinctively, but not quickly enough. A sharp, savage thrust • • • a tearing agony in his shoulder • • • an overwhelming weakness • • •

He staggered and fell. He was sinking into a void animated by dim pictures and faint voices. Far off in the distance he thought he could hear a clock strike.

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Blames Madge for "Making a Mess" of Things

I TRIED to slip out of the library immediately after Dicky's arrival, but Mr. Underwood caught me by the arm and kept me in the room.

"What's the rush, Lady Fair?" he queried quizzically. "Going to make preparations to 'feed the brute?' You needn't. I know the Dicky-bird. He's had his regular ration of cuttle bone all the way down the Island."

"That's just where you're mistaken, my buck-eye," Dicky retorted. "I haven't stopped since I left New York except for traffic lights."

"And blazed a few of them if the cop's neck was twisted the other way," his friend commented. "Well, if that's the case I'll let your frau rustle you some food—after I've given her a few parting instructions. Do you think your father will be home tonight?" he turned to me.

"I'm expecting him on that last train," I said.

"Then, you'd better rustle a couple of cots and put one in your father's room and one in my nest for the Dicky-bird—or, no, whichever wins when we cast lots for the bed."

My husband elevated his eyebrows and looked from one of us to the other as if he were inspecting some new inmate of the zoo.

"This is all very interesting," he said acidly, "but may I inquire what it's all about? I gathered from your summons, you old fibber," he turned to Mr. Underwood, "that you needed me down here to protect the farmhouse from some crazy galoots who were trying to raise a little private Hades of their own, but what that has to do with a cot in your room for me—what's the matter with mine?"

"Not a thing in the world," Mr. Underwood said, and I saw that he was enjoying himself hugely. "It's a swell room—indeed I think you call it sweet—even precious—but, my boy, it's greatly honored just now, it's occupied by royalty—sick royalty at that."

"What the devil" Dicky exploded, and I shifted toward the door.

"That's right," Mr. Underwood said encouragingly. "All women and children to the lifeboats. There's a monsoon coming. Run along, Lady Fair, and have Katie rustle some cold and lettuce for this bird. I'll try to explain things to him in the meantime in such simple terms that even his two-by-four brain can understand."

"I'll knock what little you have left into a space smaller than two-by-four," Dicky retorted with a quickly that had little mirth in it, and I hurried out of the room, followed by Dicky's perfunctory courteous request, "Don't bother, Madge. I only want a sandwich and a glass of milk."

But I interpreted that order liberally when I reached the kitchen, for I knew that Dicky fed, would not be half as irritable as Dicky hungry. Katie, always eager to please Dicky, worked to such purpose that in less than fifteen minutes I was able to summon him and Mr. Underwood to the dining room where two laden trays testified to Katie's industry and mine.

"I thought you might like something, too," I told Mr. Underwood.

"She's evidently got your number," Dicky told his friend. "I never knew you when you couldn't put a meal inside you, no matter how many you'd eaten on the same day. It's a wonder to me you never entered one of those griddle cake or doughnut marathons."

"Because I knew you'd be mean enough to put your name up too," Mr. Underwood rejoined, "and I never could compete with you, old timer—not in the eating line."

With a hurried excuse I left them to their burlesqued wrangling, and taking Katie upstairs, saw that cots were set up in Mr. Underwood's room and my father's, as Harry had requested, and that adequate bedding was provided for them. In my father's room, I lingered for a minute, looking at the large framed picture of him which occupied the place of honor on his mantel. There would be no captious objections upon my father's part, no matter to what inconvenience I subjected him, but I knew subtly that Dicky would vent upon me his annoyance at being shut out of his room. Yet I was not prepared for the barrage he opened when after his lunch he came upstairs and beckoned me to the little balcony off the second floor. He closed the door behind us and faced me stormily.

"Well this sure is a fine mess you're made of things," he said. "You ought to be proud of yourself."

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Thursday and the kind of weather that makes a fella think of vacation and wish it was here, so he could go swimming and could get a collection of snakes and mud turtles and minnies and things. A fella gets homesick for summer when winter has been hanging around for a long time. I do anyhow.

I was so homesick for summer that when I had let Jubilee down I sat on the floor with my arms on the window sill and my chin on my hands and looked away across Farrell's roof, and if I had of had wings I would of looked like the little angels there are pictures of in the church windows without any bodies. I would hate to be that kind of an angel. I would have to keep flying forever, because I wouldn't have anything to set down on. I told my folks that, when I had got my work done and was feeding my face, and my aut said she would imagine that I would have considerable difficulty being any kind of an angel. She said that in the place where I would probly go I would be glad if I didn't have anything to set on because all the places a fella could set would be red hot. I told her that when I got there I didn't expect to set down, because I was going to get up to let her have my seat. That made my mother look pleased, and my father looked at me over the top of his spectacles and my grandfather chuckled and my aut got up and took a plate full of vitals and went to her room. She said if her own brother couldn't protect her from insult she would leave the table, and my grandfather said she would not have left it if tables weren't so indigestible. He meant she would have et it.

My unkle's nose was crooked and his upper lip stuck out over the lower one like the edge of a roof. I asted him who had been working on him he said he knowed people that had got rich minding their own business. So I went out and fed Jubilee the stuff I had snuck into my pocket when they were all watching my aut leave the table, and we went to school. Podgeen was there again with his sister, and the teacher came while we were all around Podgeen, and she told the sister that we would be glad to have Podgeen for a guest in our room, and some of us would bring him home when school let out. So the sister kissed him goodbye and went. Podgeen likes our teacher because she nursed him at the hospital. He told me that my unkle went to see his sister last night and her plumber saw him through the window and walled outside till he started home. From the looks of my unkle's face the plumber must of had a pipe wrench with him.

Crawford County Judge Grants Restraining Measure to Galion Man

BUCYRUS, April 11—Refusing to pay more than one-third of the true valuation of his properties towards assessments placed against him by reasons of an improvement to a city thoroughfare and declaring that the amounts assessed against him for the improvement were "illegally assessed against him," Harry Cohen, Galion, brought suit in common pleas court yesterday against County Treasurer Iven B. Smith asking that the court temporarily and permanently restrain the treasurer from demanding from Cohen a greater sum than $3 1-3 per cent of the property valuation. Shortly after the petition was filed by Attorney Louis Kreiter, Judge Wright issued a temporary restraining order after the plaintiff furnished a $500 bond.

Rumor Attempt Will be Made to Kill Crabbe Dry Act in Ohio

LIBERALS TO SEEK VOTERS' SIGNATURES

Probably Encouraged by Recent Result of "Wet" Balloting in Wisconsin

BIG FIGHT IS SEEN

Bender's Referendum for Equal Representation Also Stirs Politics

COLUMBUS April 11—With the reports that a repeal of the state dry law would be sought by a group of liberals in the 1931 election and with another so-called equal representation referendum already under way politics were catapulted into the light today notwithstanding the fact that the dying general assembly is now in recess

Probably encouraged by the recent result of the wet vote in the recent Wisconsin balloting as a result of which the Wisconsin dry law is to be repealed an organization of liberals said to have a stanch group of supporters in at least 30 populous Ohio counties will wage a fight to repeal the Crabbe act the prohibition law of this state

Seek Signatures

The first step in the battle of the wets will be to secure signatures of two percent of the Ohio electors on a petition to repeal the prohibition statute This petition will be submitted to the general assembly in 1931 It was forecast and failing in enactment an additional three percent of the voters will be secured to obtain a referendum of Senator George H Bender, firebrand of the upper house of the state legislature to obtain for the cities and urban settled counties in the state what he terms equal representation

Dalas Sullivan youthful representative in the house and at times called Gas Tax Sullivan because of the fact that he is co-author of the increased gas tax bill announced he would champion the fight on the part of the rural districts to defeat the Bender referendum

If Bender carries his referendum for reapportionment of the senators and representatives in the legislature chances for the repeal of the state dry law would be more favorable than otherwise

Cities are supposedly wet while the Ohio rural districts are reputed to be dry

Sullivan Bender Firebrands

Enactment of the Bender referendum would mean that the cities or at least the populous counties of the state would gain control of the state legislature Defeat of the Bender referendum would mean that the rural districts would retain their supposed majority vote in the legislature

Even though the referendum movements may amount to nothing it will be more than interesting to watch the bout between Representative Sullivan and Senator Bender Both are fire brands and the present tilt will be a renewal of the old feud which culminated recently in Bender's opposition of Sullivan's four cent gas tax bill

Bender has already opened offices in Cleveland from which he will lead the referendum fight

Piper Support Sullivan

Willard Piper representative from the Mt Clairsville district, who recently gained statewide publicity in a gentle newspaper razzing by introducing a bill in the legislature which sought to prohibit the sale of malt syrup in Ohio came to the support of Sullivan in a speech at St Clairsville

He branded the Bender referendum as a nightmare and declared that it was a scheme to drown the rural population of Ohio in Lake Erie

From the statement issued by Sullivan it can be seen that he rushed into the fray impulsively and had not adequately prepared himself for the fight Several slight discrepancies were apparent to newspapermen familiar with the state laws and referendum machinery

Sullivan declared he would seek the support of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Ohio Grange and it is thought that these will back the youthful solon

Control Might Be Wet

The Anti Saloon League may enter into the Bender referendum fight inasmuch as Bender is an avowed foe of the league and because the defeat of the referendum would further their interests in having a dry legislature Bender is an ardent dry however and his attacks on the Anti Saloon League have been because of its policy and not because of its purpose

But as was mentioned before a legislature controlled by city representation would probably be wet and it would further enactment of the proposed repeal of the dry law

Both houses of the legislature are scheduled to go into a short session April 10 and though there will be no official action in the legislative bodies it will give the senators and representatives a chance to confer with their party leaders and perhaps announce their stand on the referendum measures

Doctor at 83 Found People Preferred His Prescription

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr Caldwell left Medical College in 1858 nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice known to druggists and the public since 1885 as Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

Then the treatment of constipation with severe headaches mental depression indigestion sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives herbs and roots These are still the basis of Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin

Dr Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege but they should never be given to children

The simpler the remedy for constipation the safer for the child and for you and the better for the general health of all And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin why take chances with strong drugs? All drug stores have the generous bottle

Many is the family today that makes it a rule always to have a bottle of this perfect preparation in the house Keep it handy and observe these three simple rules of health keep the head cool the feet warm, and the bowels open

Why not try Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today? —Adv

E LOSE LIVES WHEN PLANE FALLS

in Crash Americans; Ac- lent Occurs at Tampico, Mexico

MPICO, Mex., April 11—The of five persons, four of them ans, victims of the most dis- s air tragedy in Mexico since the expansion of commercial air service between Mexico City and Brownsville, Tex., lay here today awaiting shipment for burial.

The crash occurred when the motor of a Mexican aviation company plane balked shortly after taking off from here. The pilot attempted to glide to the field but lacked sufficient altitude. The plane went into a sideslip and fell from a height of 100 feet. It was bound from Mexico City to Brownsville.

Among the victims was Garret Frazier, a New Yorker prominent in engineering circles. He was flying from Mexico City, where he had visited his fiancee, Miss Grace Parkinson. Miss Parkinson has been in Mexico for some time but comes from Houston, Texas. Frazier was employed by the Mineral Products Co. of New York. He superintended the construction of the international bridge across the Rio Grande from Brownsville to Matomoros.

The others who died were Dennis W. Taylor, pilot, Elaine Newcomb, co-pilot, both of Brownsville; J. Robinson, of Brownsville, and J. Fernandez, of Mexico City. Taylor and Newcomb formerly were employed as pilots by the Ford Motor Co. of Detroit.

Bothered from Childhood with Eczema. Healed by Cuticura.

"From childhood I was bothered with eczema. Sometimes it would last for a week, then disappear, and in a couple of weeks would break out again. It spread all over my face and neck and itched and burned terribly so that I could not help scratching it. When I scratched it, it would bleed, and some nights I could hardly sleep on account of the irritation.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more and in three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Susie Boer, Rt. 2, Box 1, Friendship, Wisc., Aug. 30, 1928.

BLEASE WOULD DRY UP ALL EMBASSIES

Diplomatic Corps Faces New Embarrassment as Legislative Threat Is Made

WASHINGTON, April 11—With a Curtis-Gann social tangle temporarily solved, the diplomatic corps faced a new embarrassment today in a legislative threat to enforce the American prohibition law against all foreign representatives of kings, emperors, potentates and presidents.

Senator Cole Blease, Democrat, of South Carolina, who recently admitted taking a drink now and then of privileged liquor, announced he would introduce a bill at the special session of congress, compelling all "aliens" to comply with the dry law. His measure would deprive the diplomatic corps of its choice liquors, which it enjoyed for the last 10 dry years under diplomatic courtesy.

Blease will ask the Anti-Saloon league and other prohibition organizations to support his measure. He said he hoped to force a vote on it at the coming session.

"I want to awaken an interest in those great prohibitionists, who are spending millions of dollars and working so ardently to keep liquor away from the poor fellow, who does out door work and wants a weak drop for his stomach's sake, toward enforcing prohibition on these diplomats," said Blease. "The prohibitionists have sat idly by and permitted such outrageous, flagrant and disgraceful scenes as embassy liquor has caused in our capital in the last few years. These diplomats have made slurring remarks about our laws and it is time to make them show some respect and obedience to our laws."

50 EXPECTED TO ATTEND BALL MEET

BOLES, WOOSTER ATHLETIC DIRECTOR, WILL GIVE ADDRESS

Commission To Be Named at Recreation Banquet Tonight

BY BOB ELLIOTT

More than 50 recreational base ball enthusiasts in Marion are expected to be on deck at 6 0 o'clock tonight when the fourth annual recreational baseball banquet will get under way at the Y M C A Although early this morning managers had reported but 0 members who would be present tonight, this number was expected to be doubled by noon today

Managers of the teams who had not reported this morning were being paged by P O Rudolph secretary of the commission If no more than 50 are present for the banquet it will be held in a private room at the Y M C A dining room while if more than that number are present it will have to be held on the lower gym floor at the Y

Plans now call for the eating part of the program to be officially started at 6 30 o'clock but then you know what a banquet is Following the banquet the main address of the program will be given by L C Boles, athletic director at Wooster college

John Clark, president of the commission announced that all business will be transacted after the talk by Boles

Boles who was secured after much trouble by local men to speak at the banquet, has been connected with Ohio collegiate athletics for so long that he has become a veritable landmark Prior to about two years ago he had coached Wooster football teams through more than one successful season

The trophy room at the Wooster institute of football technology attests most vigorously to the fact that the championship of the Ohio Conference has rested within its portals more than once

His talk before Marion's baseball enthusiasts tonight will probably contain excerpts from his experiences in these many years of coaching and how he managed to manufacture one championship team after another

The really important business of the evening will start immediately after the talk with the election of the members of the recreation commission for the coming season This is probably the most important business of the entire season for the simple reason that these men who are elected hold the entire baseball situation in their hands throughout the season

As to the location of these men it has been decided that only duly elected managers and captains from each team that is entering a league this year can vote Each team thus will have two votes or if they have not elected a manager they lose that vote

Following the election of the commission it will meet in a special organization meeting and elect officers The newly elected president will then appoint any committees if necessary It is extremely probable that a committee to investigate any possible changes in the rules will be named The only other business to be transacted tonight will be the handing out of entry blanks These must be filled out and returned to Rudolph at the Y M C A by May 7

Ruth Striving To Regain His Lost Youth

BABE MAKING POOR SHOWING IN SPRING TRAINING CONTESTS

King of Swat Starting on Down Trail in Baseball

BY DAVID J WALSH

NEW YORK April 11—They are chanting the litany over an allegedly recumbent Mr Ruth as the great team stumbles and fumbles his way over the land in pursuit of the spirit of his departed youth Without the slightest attempt to dissemble or to imitate they say he is slightly fat so to speak and proceed to dig course learnedly about the half stride that is missing in his speed the noticeable shortening of his swing and the inevitable difference of the split second in his start"

To put the matter less garrulously it may be imagined the observers suspect that the man who is has become the man who was They add that none realizes this fact more poignantly than Mr Ruth himself which if true is really important The man who has gone back usually discovers the fact well after his arrival at the destination in question

Easy To Go Wrong

However it really is poor taste to take liberties with Mr Ruth's future, also execrable tactics For the gentleman has one thing in common with John Dempsey The only way one can assure himself of being wrong from early intimes is to pass an opinion on either of them All one has to do for Mr Ruth is to venture timidly that he is good and forthwith he becomes bad beyond all reason Conversely one drafts a powerful dissertation concerning evidences of his impudent decay and—blooey he makes of you one first class bum

Still if you stick with the negative side of the Ruth argument, you have to win some time and maybe this is it He did falter badly in the stretch last season managing to save his countenance only by an orgy of hitting in the world series Smart baseball men thought they saw over the season's play where he failed to come up with fly balls he should have caught on the point of any of his interesting snout like a trained seal and also were pleased to believe that his speed on the bases was no more

End Not Far Away

There is nothing remarkable about all of this The man is 41 years old and the end can't be far away

Perhaps it is here already perhaps not Mr Ruth undoubtedly is starting for he likes to astound the populace with his feats and the office records of the Yankee tour this spring prove that he has not been without encouragement in this respect The Yanks have played to upward of 75 000 persons in 10 days on the road something of an exhibition record and Mr Ruth has been more than a mere number on the bill He was and is the bill and when the chumps weren't rioting to get near him they were peeping through dining room door ways, listening to him at his soup

The story is that Mr Ruth's popularity like Dempsey's has increased in proportion to his disability Personally I think it might be well not to go too far with the obsequies, until one makes certain of his corpse, for Mr Ruth ever was an inert man in the spring Anyhow they say the chumps have been all too ready to condone his shortcomings thereby increasing the anguish of his failures

Fielding Game Slows Up

Apparently he has been doing most of his stirring at the plate and the funny thing about this is that if he has but two home runs all spring he must have got the other one at a private sitting or something As for the rest of his game there seemingly has been none He doesn't chase fly balls and he breaks no legs going down the first base line on taps to the infield

The answer is that Mr Ruth is nailing himself along against the hour when a discussion of his 1930 contract is indicated He is conserving everything for a last monumental gesture and I, for one would hesitate to say that it will be in vain Nor would I attempt to call it the other way, either Mr Ruth is like that

BROOKLYN FANDOM IS GRUMBLING OVER WRIGHT-PETTY DEAL

Uncle Wilbert in for Grand Razzing as Shortstop's Arm Goes Bad

NEW YORK, April 11—Wilbert Robinson, ponderous pilot of the Brooklyn Robins, is strangely subdued this spring as he leads his flock northward for inspection by the Brooklyn fans I or as he nears the gates of the city where churches are erected toward the sky and pop bottles are thrown on the ball field he can hear the ever growing rumble of the anvil chorus in the distance

The anvil chorus is that section of Brooklyn fandom which is forever waiting for a chance to pick on the genial Uncle Robbie

Stung in Trade

This year their ranks have been swelled because of the suspicion that Uncle Wilbert has committed a manager's unpardonable sin—getting stung in a trade

Reports from the southland say that Glenn Wright, the shortstop obtained from Pittsburgh may be laid up for part or all of the season because of an injured arm Many fans were dubious about the trade last winter because it meant the loss of Tess Petty, the sterling southpaw If Wright is incapacitated for any length of time, Uncle Wilbert is in for a merry shellacking at the hands of the anvil pounders

Only Fair Staff

If Wright is useless the club will have only a fair pitching staff and very little batting strength The former Pittsburgh star has been counted upon to win many a game through his ability to drive in runs

And so Uncle Wilbert is bringing his nephews home with fear and trembling instead of with a manager's usual pride in exhibiting his new brood In Brooklyn the anvil hangs by a thread slimmer than that which held the sword of Damocles The pen may be mightier than the sword but the anvil hurts harder right worse than either of them

GALION, April 11—The Wittenberg college orchestra opened their 1929 tour last night, giving a well arranged and splendidly presented concert at First Lutheran church. The ensemble of 35 pieces was under the direction of Prof. Anton Bjorkland.

The Stradella overture opened the concert and a tone poem "Finlandia," by Sibelius was the following selection. Miss Alberta Benze, a student of the vocal department, sang two delightful solo numbers including the well loved Dvorak composition, "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

The next group by the orchestra included four Indian Love Lyrics by Woodford-Finden, "Temple Bells," "Less Than the Dust," "Kashmiri Song" and "Till I Wake."

A violin group was given by Miss Constance Ogden showing her interpretation of various styles of composition from the negro spiritual, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" to the intricate "Spanish Dance," by Bohrer.

Miss Margaret Lehman, the piano soloist, with the orchestra, played "Barcarolle," Schulhert-Liszt; "Etude in F Sharp Major," Arensky, and "Scherzo," by Albeniz.

The closing ensemble numbers were "Les Patineurs," Waldteufel; "Romance," Grunfield; "Waltz," Leritzki and "La Dame Blanche," by Boieldieu.

AKRON WOMAN TO BEGIN TERM

Mrs. Mary Bryant, 23, Will Enter Marysville Reformatory

MARYSVILLE, April 11—Mrs. Mary Bryant, 23, Akron, will shortly begin her sentence of five to 10 years in the State Reformatory for Women, here, for planning to attack to kill her husband, Horace Bryant, 31. Mrs. Bryant was convicted Tuesday in connection with Maynard Nichols, 28, also of Akron, who attempted to carry out her plans. Fate intervened and the cold water of Wingfoot Lake which was meant to drown Bryant after Nichols had struck him over the head with an iron bar, and thrown him into the water, revived him while a submerged fence held him up.

After they had taken the victim for the ride, they returned home, they said, to sing hymns. In the meantime, Bryant dragged himself, to a farmhouse, nearby. Nichols quickly confessed after Mrs. Bryant told authorities that they had planned to collect a $1,500 insurance policy and then be married. Nichols is married and has one child.

Sheriff J. B. Lingrel has taken George Shaw to the state penitentiary to begin time on his two year sentence for refusal to pay 75 cents weekly support for each of his five children, who are in the Union County Children's home.

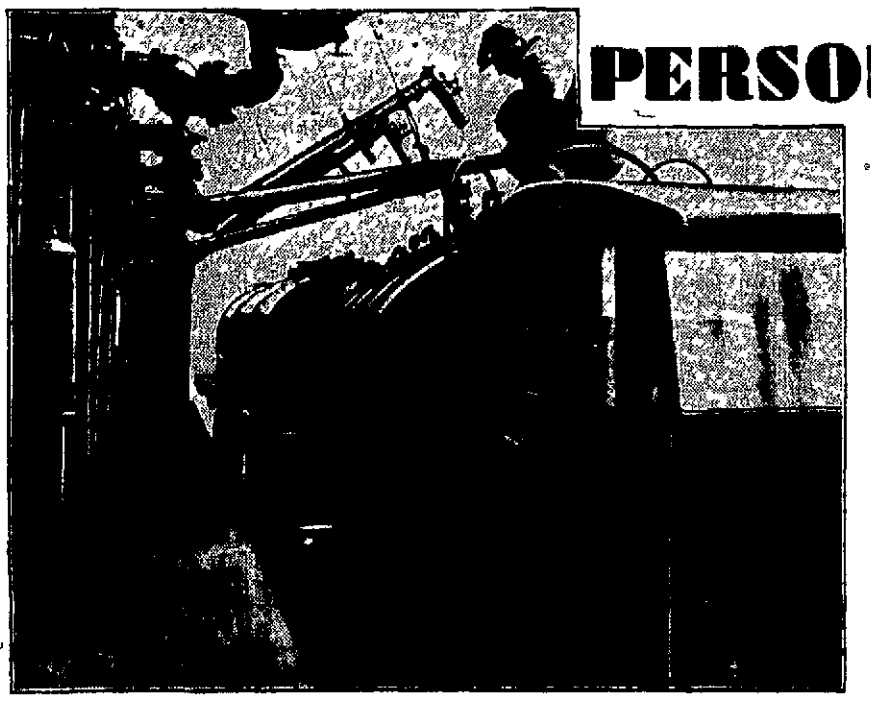
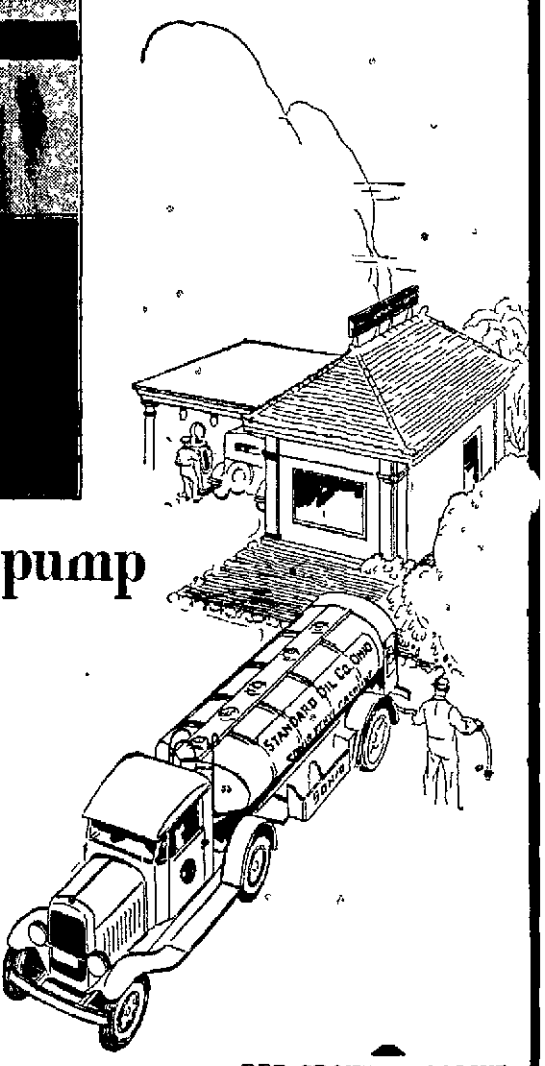
SOHIO QUALITY is a PERSONAL TRUST



From bulk storage to service pump ... one man is responsible



MODERN EQUIPMENT and extra refinery care establish the high quality of Standard Oil (Ohio) products. Extra precautions preserve this high quality, from refinery to bulk storage, from bulk storage to service pump.

Each Standard Oil tank wagon or tank truck driver is a vitally important cog in the great machine that brings Sohio and Red Crown to your gasoline tank. For he is made personally responsible for each load he transports from storage tank to service station or dealer.

He fills the truck tanks himself—knows exactly what is in each compartment. His loading report is checked before he leaves the bulk station. He personally closes the fill-dome covers. At the delivery point he himself unloads the truck—making certain that only Sohio goes into Sohio tanks, only Red Crown into Red Crown tanks.

These men take keen pride in the part they play in preserving the extra quality of Standard Oil products. We give them the best modern equipment, to be sure. But even the most perfect mechanical safeguards cannot take the place of this human interest. And these men are typical of the 4500 Ohio men and women devoting their days to the maintenance of the high standards of quality of all Standard Oil of Ohio products.

If you have tried Sohio in your own car you know what the pride these Ohio men and women take in their daily work means to your motor. If not, try it today—learn for yourself that there is a difference in gasoline! For sale at Red-White-and-Blue Standard Service Stations and dealers' pumps throughout the State.

RED CROWN GASOLINE—
The same standards of care and uniformity also control the manufacture and distribution of Red Crown. We make Red Crown ourselves in the same great plants that produce Sohio, because our customers are educated to a better grade of fuel than ordinary motor gasolines such as we might buy in the open market.

TRY THIS NEW GASOLINE
1 Put it in a car that knocks
2 Use it in high-compression motors
